For Maryland Works Provider & Workforce Network Members Employed Individuals with Disabilities (EID) Program

Tuesday, February 7, 2012

9:30 a.m. – 11:30 a.m.

Discover this powerful work incentive that can encourage your customers to work, and reward them when they do:

The Employed Individuals with Disabilities (EID) Program provides Medical Assistance for Marylanders with disabilities who work for pay and meet a few other conditions. Medical Assistance provides excellent coverage if you are uninsured, and can supplement other insurance (including Medicare), saving up to thousands of dollars a year.

Learn about changes to the program that enable many Medicaid Waiver participants to take advantage of EID without losing their Medicaid Waiver services. Learn how people getting Medicaid Waiver services can use EID and keep Waiver services when their incomes or assets increase

You will learn:

- ✓ What is EID?
- ✓ Who is eligible for EID?
- ✓ How much money EID can save you, and how much you can earn without losing health coverage.
- ✓ If you are a Medical Assistance service provider, see how EID can increase your reimbursements.

*The EID Outreach Project operated by the Maryland Department of Disabilities since 2008 will cease its operations on June 30, 2012 due to the end of its federal grant.
The EID Program itself will still continue, and individuals can still enroll after June 2012*

Presenter: Michael Dalto, Work Incentives Project Director, Maryland Department of Disabilities

He leads the State's promotional campaign to help Marylanders with disabilities enroll in the EID Program.
